Den Highlights

What has everyone been happening during den meetings? Each den has been having their own unique adventures...

Tigers - The Tiger den has been working on fire safety. They have praticed stop, drop, and roll. They will visit the Brecksville Fire Station in November to continue their Fire Adventure.

Bears - In October the Bears hiked on one of our beautiful autumn evenings. They saw squirrels and deer. They learned about leave no trace and to stop throwing rocks.

Arrow of Lights - The AOL den finished the First Aid Adventure with building their own first aid kits and recognizing the signs of an emergency. Some of our AOL scouts also went on a camping trip with Troop 652 to experience activities at the true level and get better acquainte with the scouts.

Nationwide Scouting For Food: Service Activity

Scouting for Food is a community service project organized by Scouting America. Scouts help collect nonperishable food from local residents and donate it to food banks, food pantries, and organizations that support families experiencing food insecurity. It is a practical way for Scouts to live out the Scout Oath's commitment to helping other people at all times. This pairs with our November motto of “A Scout is Helpful”.

A Scout Is Helpful

Being helpful is a great way to show thankfulness. As Scouts, we can show gratitude by helping others without being asked, lending a hand when someone is struggling, and doing our best to make our families, schools, and communities better. When we help others, we show that we appreciate what we have and that we are thankful for the people around us.
